Letter of Support

Dear Dr. Haase,

We from the DGM keep track with great interest to the InnoMatSafety NFDI consortium.

The DGM represents the interests of members in materials science and engineering, including many experts and committees. The safety of innovative materials is seen as an important feature for the DGM topics „Materials Knowledge“ and as environmentally friendly materials in „Application & Circular Economy“. Furthermore, we know digitalization as a key to an entirely new branch for harvesting additional knowledge from data formerly obtained by material characterizations. The toxicological perspective onto materials seems to be rarely addressed by other initiatives and addresses future relevant societal challenges. These tasks require a solid national project with international relations, and we think the InnoMatSafety consortium can perform this excellent task.

We, as DGM, are primarily involved in the activities of the NFDI-MatWerk consortium and are happy to confirm our sincere interest in a lively interaction with the InnoMatSafety consortium.

We are pleased that materials are also in focus in this initiative.

With kind regards

Dr. Stefan Klein
